If your balance falls below the required minimum, the bank will levy a non-maintenance charge, which is automatically debited from your account. 2. Transactions and Payments

Q: My money got debited but the transaction failed. When will I get a refund?

A: This is a common scenario in failed IMPS, NEFT, UPI, or card transactions. If the amount was debited but not credited to the beneficiary, the bank initiates an automatic reversal. For UPI transactions, the refund is typically credited within 2 to 3 business days. For NEFT or IMPS, reversals may take up to 5 business days. If the amount is not reversed within the stipulated time, please raise a dispute through our app, internet banking, or customer care with your transaction reference number.

A: NEFT (National Electronic Funds Transfer) processes transactions in batches and is available 24x7; it is suitable for non-urgent transfers of any amount. RTGS (Real Time Gross Settlement) processes transactions in real time and is used for high-value transfers of Rs. 2 lakh and above. IMPS (Immediate Payment Service) enables instant fund transfers 24x7, including weekends and holidays, and is ideal for urgent transactions up to Rs. 5 lakh. Under normal circumstances, the transfer is credited to the beneficiary's account within 2 hours of initiation. In rare cases involving technical issues or incorrect account details, the amount is returned to the sender's account within 2 working days. A: If you have transferred funds to a wrong account, immediately contact our customer care helpline or visit your branch with the transaction details. The bank will send a request to the recipient's bank to reverse the funds, but recovery depends on the cooperation of the recipient. RBI guidelines require the recipient's bank to respond within 2 working days. IMPS allows up to Rs. 5 lakh per transaction. NEFT and RTGS do not have an upper cap set by RBI, but your bank may apply internal limits based on your account type. Check that your UPI app is updated and your registered mobile number is active. If the issue persists, try unlinking and relinking your bank account in the UPI app, or contact your bank's customer care to check for any account-level restrictions.

Q: My credit card payment is due — what happens if I miss it?

A: If you miss your credit card payment due date, the bank will charge a late payment fee and apply interest on the outstanding amount from the due date. Your credit score may also be negatively impacted if the payment remains overdue. To avoid this, you can set up an auto-pay mandate for the minimum amount due or the full outstanding balance. Even paying the minimum amount due on time will protect you from late fees, although interest will still accrue on the remaining balance.

The bank evaluates your request based on your repayment history, income, credit score, and overall credit profile. If eligible, the enhanced limit is typically applied within 3 to 5 working days. A: A card decline at a POS terminal despite sufficient balance can happen due to several reasons: the card may be disabled for in-store transactions, the merchant's terminal may be offline, the transaction may have exceeded your daily POS limit, or there may be a chip-related issue with the card. You must report disputed transactions within 30 days of the statement date. The bank will initiate a chargeback investigation with the merchant's acquiring bank. Enter the beneficiary's account number, IFSC code, name, and account type, then confirm with the OTP sent to your registered mobile number. Always use mobile banking over your personal mobile data network or a trusted private Wi-Fi connection. Ensure your device has the latest security updates installed. You will need to submit KYC documents, income proof (salary slips, ITR, or bank statements), and employment details. Keywords: personal loan, loan application, loan eligibility, loan disbursement, salary loan, loan documents

Q: My EMI was not deducted this month — what happens now?

A: If your EMI was not deducted due to insufficient funds in your account, it will be treated as a bounced EMI. The bank will typically retry the deduction within a few days. A bounce charge will be applied to your account, and the missed payment will be reported to credit bureaus, which can negatively affect your CIBIL score. Make sure to top up your account immediately and contact customer care to arrange for the missed EMI to be collected at the earliest.

Alternate phrasings:

Keywords: EMI bounce, missed EMI, EMI not deducted, bounce charge, CIBIL impact, EMI failure, loan repayment failure

Q: Can I prepay my loan or pay it off early?

A: Yes, you can prepay your loan either partially or in full before the loan tenure ends. For floating rate loans, RBI guidelines prohibit prepayment penalties for individual borrowers. For fixed-rate loans, a prepayment charge of 2% to 4% of the outstanding principal may apply. Partial prepayments reduce either your EMI amount or the loan tenure depending on your preference. Contact your loan relationship manager or visit the branch to initiate a prepayment.

Alternate phrasings:

- Is there a penalty for early loan closure?

- Pay off loan early

Keywords: loan prepayment, early loan closure, foreclosure, prepayment penalty, part payment, loan payoff

Q: How is my EMI amount calculated?

A: Your EMI (Equated Monthly Instalment) is calculated based on the loan amount (principal), the rate of interest, and the loan tenure. The formula used is the standard reducing balance method, where interest is calculated on the outstanding principal each month. As you repay, a larger portion of each subsequent EMI goes towards the principal. You can use our online EMI calculator on the website or app to estimate your monthly payment before applying.

Alternate phrasings:

Keywords: EMI calculation, equated monthly instalment, reducing balance, loan EMI formula, EMI calculator

Q: What is the difference between a fixed and floating interest rate on a home loan?

A: A fixed interest rate remains constant throughout the loan tenure, giving you predictable EMIs regardless of market rate changes. A floating rate is linked to an external benchmark (like the RBI repo rate) and can change periodically — your EMI may increase or decrease accordingly. Fixed rates are usually slightly higher than floating rates at the time of loan origination. Floating rate loans benefit borrowers when interest rates decline, whereas fixed rate loans offer stability when rates rise.

You can also download it anytime from the mobile banking app under 'My Loans', or from internet banking under 'Loan Accounts'. For a provisional interest certificate (useful for tax purposes), request it through the app or by visiting your branch. Annual loan statements are also emailed to your registered email address at the end of each financial year.

Keywords: loan statement, repayment schedule, amortisation, interest certificate, loan account statement, 80C certificate

Q: My CIBIL score is low — can I still get a loan?

A: A low CIBIL score (below 650) significantly reduces loan approval chances, as it indicates past repayment irregularities. However, some banks may still consider your application if you have a stable income, a co-applicant with a good credit score, or offer collateral. You can improve your credit score by clearing outstanding dues, reducing credit card utilisation, and maintaining timely repayments over 6 to 12 months. Secured loans like gold loans or loans against fixed deposits are easier to obtain with a low credit score.

6. Charges and Fees

Q: Why was I charged for using another bank's ATM?

A: RBI allows free ATM transactions up to 5 per month at other bank ATMs in metro cities, and up to 5 per month at your own bank's ATMs. Beyond this limit, a charge of Rs. 21 per transaction is levied. In non-metro locations, you are allowed 5 free transactions at other bank ATMs per month. A: If a cheque is returned due to insufficient funds, the bank levies a cheque bounce charge, typically ranging from Rs. 300 to Rs. 800 depending on your account type and the cheque amount. Similarly, failed ECS or NACH mandates (used for EMI or bill payments) attract a return charge. These charges are automatically debited from your account. Do not share this OTP with anyone under any circumstances — bank employees will never ask for your OTP. Change your internet banking password and MPIN immediately and check for any recent or unauthorised transactions. If you suspect account compromise, call our customer care immediately to place a temporary hold on your account.

Report the fraud to the National Cyber Crime portal at cybercrime.gov.in and file a police complaint. Under RBI guidelines, if you report the fraud within 3 working days, your liability for the unauthorised transaction may be significantly limited. Do not delay — the faster you report, the better the chance of recovery.

Legitimate bank communications will never ask for your password, OTP, or full card number. If you report within 3 working days, your maximum

If you do not have a PAN card, you can submit Form 60 as a declaration. The frequency depends on your risk category: high-risk customers every 2 years, medium-risk every 8 years, and low-risk every 10 years.
